Profile

Qingye He holds a master's degree in law from Renmin University of China. She is a mediator of the Beijing Association for Alternative Dispute Resolution and is qualified in securities and funds. She has worked in the Beijing court system and has 12 years of experience as a judge. She has handled thousands of civil and commercial cases, enforcement cases and enforcement objection review cases, and has been awarded the titles of "Competent in Handling Cases" and "Model for Civilized Law Enforcement" for many times.

Qingye He has rich legal practice experience and a comprehensive practice structure. She is able to accurately grasp the logic of cases and flexibly apply the law. She is particularly good at resolving difficult and complex civil and commercial disputes and providing legal services for major non-litigation projects. Since joining Tiantai Law Firm in 2015, she has provided legal services for many banks, asset companies, factoring companies, financial leasing companies, insurance companies, private listed companies and other enterprises, and successfully handled many difficult and complex financial disputes and company-related disputes, all achieving good legal results. She has also represented creditors, debtors and investors in restructuring projects to maximize the interests of her clients.
